PLEASE READ

This book is a faith-based companion for reflection and practice. It is not medical, mental-health, legal, or addiction-treatment advice, and it does not replace a doctor, therapist, counselor, pastor, or emergency services. The author is not a licensed clinician. Prayer belongs beside — not in place of — treatment, medication, safe housing, and safety planning.

YOUR SAFETY COMES FIRST

If you are in danger, call 911 (or your local emergency number). If you are thinking about ending your life, call or text 988 (U.S.). If you are physically dependent on alcohol, benzodiazepines, or barbiturates, do not stop suddenly without medical supervision — withdrawal can be dangerous. The resource page at the back of the book lists additional help. Phone numbers and services change; please confirm them before you rely on them.

ABOUT THE STORIES AND IDEAS

Personal testimony is shared as lived experience, not as a formula or a promise of any outcome. Interpretations of Scripture are labeled as interpretation and offered for you to test against the Bible and with wise, trusted people. Nothing in this book guarantees healing, deliverance, income, or any particular result.

BEFORE DAY ONE

Meet Nikki and Big Boy

Hey. I'm Nikki, and this is Big Boy, my battle buddy: a big gray-and-white American Bully with a muscular build and no ears, who stood beside me through some of my loneliest days.

I lost my sister to addiction. I have lived through homelessness, trafficking, abuse, addiction, and a long, destructive relationship. When I reached for help, too often there were strings attached, or a watered-down verse and a pat on the head. I needed somewhere that could hold the truth about trauma without pushing God out of the room.

I am not a counselor, a doctor, or a finished story. I am building as I go. What I can offer is what I have learned, what Scripture actually says, and something practical you can do today. God met me while I was still trying to get up. That is where this book comes from.

Take what helps. Leave what does not. Get real help when you need it, because prayer sits beside treatment and safety, not instead of them.

You survived. Now we rebuild. — Nikki & Big Boy

How This Book Works

Every day has six pages, always in this order, so you never have to decide what to do next:

1

GUIDE · UNDERSTAND AND PLAN

Today's goal, what the Bible passage actually says in its setting, what research suggests, and five numbered steps with check boxes.

2

STANDING, LEFT PAGE

An optional grounding exercise, Scripture, and teaching on spiritual warfare, family wounds, and addiction.

STANDING, RIGHT PAGE

Reflection prompts, one soft action, a prayer, and a declaration.

4

COMING HOME · GO TO HER

One gentle step toward the child you were, with a prayer, an affirmation, and a challenge.

5

WRITE IT DOWN

Rate your distress before and after, circle the steps you finished, and write what came up. Over time the numbers show you what actually helps.

6

POCKET PAGE

A verse to carry, a note of love with an ESV verse, a nugget, "Today I choose," and a note from Future Me.

BE HONEST ABOUT THE SCIENCE

- The research notes are plain-language summaries of published studies. They describe what has been found across groups of people. They are not promises about you.
- Citations were written from memory and have not been checked against the originals. Look up any you plan to rely on, and ask a counselor or doctor about anything that affects your care.
- The Bible "in context" notes explain a passage's setting. Where I apply a verse beyond its own subject, I say so.

PACE YOURSELF

- Do all six pages in one sitting, or spread them across the day. Doing only the Guide on a hard day still counts.
- Skip any step or any grounding exercise that does not feel safe. Nothing here asks you to tell a story or remember anything.
- This book does not replace counseling, treatment, medical care, or a safety plan. Prayer sits beside those things, not instead of them.

THE WHOLE MAP

Your 90-Day Path

Nine arcs, ten to fifteen days each. Each arc has one theme and one place on the road from surviving toward living.

Days	Arc	Standing focus	Coming Home stage
1-10	Telling the Truth	The war underneath: childhood, body, secrecy, a date	Build Her a Safe Place
11-20	The Lies and the Names	Lies, names, and the moral injury of surviving	Meet Her at the Doorway
21-30	The Realm and Your Authority	Warfare, plainly: sorting, standing, forgiving	Stand Guard for Her
31-45	The Contracts	Vows, words, ties, the cistern, wanting out	Release What She Promised
46-55	The Bloodline	Family patterns and ending the cycle	Show Her Her Family Line
56-68	The Playbook and the Structure	Patterns, cravings, daily structure, boundaries, falling	Build Her a House
69-76	God	Where He was, honest anger, silence	Where Was Jesus?
77-84	Brandi and Letting Go	Grief, guilt, children out of reach, release	Say Goodbye and Hello
85-90	Becoming Her	Stewarding what you have learned	Meet the New You

READ THIS FIRST

Going Back Safely

This book walks you through a prayerful, imaginative practice: visiting the child you were, comforting her, releasing what she promised to survive, and bringing her home to the woman you are becoming. It is a tool, not a cure, and these are the rules that keep it safe.

What it is

Prayerful imagination and compassion practice anchored in Scripture: God sees and comforts (Psalm 139:12; Isaiah 66:13), and Jesus welcomes children (Mark 10:14). The “room” and the “doorway” are pictures. They are not visions, and they are not literal memories.

What it is not

It is not memory recovery. You never hunt for memories, and you never try to reconstruct what you do not already know. It is not a ritual that frees anyone by itself, and it does not replace therapy, medicine, or safety planning. Imagining something does not make it true history.

Your rules

- You choose the pace. A stop word, a ten-minute timer, and a landing (warm drink, walk, a text to someone) are part of every visit.
- Visit from the doorway. You never have to go into a scene.
- Use only what you already know. If nothing comes, nothing is required.
- Jesus is central. If you cannot picture Him, pray His words aloud instead.
- If you feel far away, numb, flooded, or have flashbacks, stop, open your eyes, find the date and the exit, and do your landing.

DO THIS WITH A TRAINED TRAUMA THERAPIST IF

- your history includes severe or ongoing abuse, trafficking, or ritual abuse
- you lose time, dissociate, or feel like parts of you are separate
- visits leave you worse for more than a day

If you are thinking about ending your life, call or text 988. If you are in danger, call 911.

Spiritual Warfare, Plainly

I want to be careful with this language, because it has been used on people who needed help, not hype. So here is what I stand on.

What Scripture says

There is a real adversary: a liar, an accuser, a thief (John 10:10; Revelation 12:10; 1 Peter 5:8). He is a created being, limited by God (Job 1–2), and already defeated at the cross (Colossians 2:15; 1 John 3:8). Our part is to submit to God, resist the devil, stand firm in the armor God gives, answer lies with what is written (as Jesus did in Matthew 4), and pray (James 4:7; Ephesians 6:10–18).

What Scripture does not say

It does not hand us a formula. In Acts 19:13–16, men tried to use Jesus’ name like a tool and were beaten. It does not say every problem is demonic. It does not say we should shout or boast about authority; Jesus told His disciples to rejoice not that spirits submit to them but that their names are written in heaven (Luke 10:20), and even the archangel Michael did not presume to rebuke the devil on his own (Jude 9). It does not say a child’s struggle is a spirit, or that words on a page break a curse.

How this book uses the word “warfare”

Here, warfare means refusing to agree with lies, standing in Christ, and doing the ordinary faithful things together with practical care: sleep, food, doctors, counselors, safety, honest friends, and prayer. Test every spirit (1 John 4:1). If something makes you more ashamed, more isolated, or more afraid, it is not from Him.

Where I offer a picture (doors, agreements, stages) it is interpretation. Scripture is the authority; the pictures are tools.

A Word About Your Mother

This book was rewritten for you: a daughter whose mother carried her own trauma and addiction, and who allowed your father to abuse you when you were a baby; a woman in recovery from her own addiction; a woman who is not a mother and does not want to carry any of this on. If that is not your story, read it as the nearest true thing.

What I will not do

I will not ask you to remember. You were six months old; you cannot, and you do not need to. I will not tell you your mother was only a monster or only a victim; people are often both, and you can hold that without excusing her. I will not tell you your addiction is her fault, or that it is only yours. I will not tell you that you are destined to repeat it, or that you are cursed. I will not use guilt, and I will not tell you that forgiving means going back.

What I will do

Explain, plainly and without claiming certainty, how a baby who was not protected can grow into a woman whose body reaches for relief and whose heart struggles to trust (Days 5, 6, 39, 40). Name the grief for the mother you needed. Walk you through forgiving at your own pace, setting boundaries, and releasing what is not yours. Show you concrete ways to stop the pattern with you: recovery, therapy, safe people, new habits, and a line of faith and honesty you start now, with or without children.

Right now

If you are in danger, call 911. If you are thinking about ending your life, call or text 988. If a child is at risk near the person who harmed you, Childhelp: 1-800-422-4453. SAMHSA Helpline (substance use): 1-800-662-4357. (Please confirm numbers before relying on them.)

SAY IT BEFORE DAY ONE

An Opening Prayer

Say it again any day you need it.

PRAYER

Father, I come to You through Jesus. I am not coming cleaned up. I am coming honest.

You know what was done to me, what I did to get through it, and what I am still afraid is true about me. Nothing in these ninety days will surprise You.

Walk through each page with me. Where I find shame, bring light. Where I find grief, sit with me and do not rush me. Where I find anger, let me bring it to You instead of holding it against You.

Give me the courage to take the next small step, and the sense to ask for help when I need it. Let what I learn become something somebody else can use.

I put my sister Brandi Renee in Your hands, not mine. In Jesus' name. Amen.

ARC 1 • DAYS 1-10

Telling the Truth

Standing: The war underneath: childhood, body, secrecy, a date.

Coming Home: Build Her a Safe Place.

THE HOLY R3UP FOR ALL

10 DAYS • 60 PAGES

The War Started Before You Had Words

TODAY'S GOAL

Name that the fight is real, and that you are not fighting it alone.

THE BIBLE IN CONTEXT • EPHESIANS 6:12 (ESV)

Paul wrote Ephesians while under arrest in Rome, around AD 60–62, to believers in Ephesus. “Struggle” translates a wrestling word. He is not saying people are never responsible for what they do. He is saying there is more going on in the world than what we can see, and that we are told to stand, not to panic.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

The large ACE study of more than 17,000 adults found that the more kinds of childhood adversity a person reported, the higher their risk of later problems, including substance use. It describes risk across a group. It does not say what will happen to you.

DO THIS, STEP BY STEP about 15 minutes • check each box

- 1 ☐ Sit or stand where your feet can touch the floor. Set a timer for 2 minutes.
- 2 ☐ Say out loud, “I am here. It is today. I am an adult.” Look around and name three things you can see.
- 3 ☐ Read today’s verse once, slowly. Then read the “In context” box.
- 4 ☐ Write on the Journal page the one sentence you most need to be true about this book.
- 5 ☐ Say the declaration out loud. Check the box. Stop.

MY NOTES WHILE I DO THESE STEPS

Too much today? Stop at any step. Press your feet into the floor, name five things you can see, and reach for someone safe. Numbers are at the back.

MOTHER WOUND · WARFARE · ADDICTION

SANCTUARY · OPTIONAL

"For we do not wrestle against flesh and blood, but against the rulers, against the authorities, against the cosmic powers over this present darkness, against the spiritual forces of evil in the heavenly places."

WHAT THIS MEANS

WHAT STOOD OUT TO ME

SACRED REFLECTION

1. What do I already know about my beginning, and how do I know it?

2. How does it feel to hear that I do not need to remember it?

3. What would it mean to stand against it instead of just surviving it?

SOFT ACTION

Write one sentence that starts, "What happened to me was wrong because..." Say it aloud once.

SUPPLICATION

Jesus, I did not choose the war I was born into. Stand with me in it. Name the harm as harm, and be near me while I look. Amen.

What was done to me was wrong, and God was never on its side.

☐ I said it. I wrote it. That is enough for today.

Same day, other pages: Journal · Standing · Coming Home · Go deeper Workbook 1.1 · 2.1 | Vol. II Ch. 1, 11

Before you go anywhere near the past, build a place in the present. Choose a real or imagined room: where is it, what is the light like, what is on the walls, what is soft, what can she hear? Write five details. Nothing from the past comes into this room today. You are only building it.

I am safe enough to begin, and I can stop whenever I need to.

Ephesians 6:12 · ESV

A NOTE OF LOVE

I know the first step is the hardest one. You took it. I am proud of you and I am not even in the room.

“Fear not, for I am with you; be not dismayed, for I am your God; I will strengthen you, I will help you, I will uphold you with my righteous right hand.”

Isa 41:10 · ESV

The note is mine. The verse is what Scripture actually says.

A NUGGET

Seeing the whole battlefield is not the same as living on it. You can learn the map and still sleep at night.

TODAY I CHOOSE

Today I choose to begin before I feel ready.

A NOTE FROM FUTURE ME

Future Me, I am writing this on Day 1 so you can see where it started. I was scared and I did it anyway. If you are reading this, I kept going. Thank me.

Write Future Me one line of your own:

Telling the Truth About Both of Them

TODAY'S GOAL

Tell the truth about both parents without lying in either direction.

THE BIBLE IN CONTEXT • 1 JOHN 1:7 (ESV)

First John was written by the apostle John to believers who were being taught confusing things about sin and about Jesus. Verse 7 says walking in the light brings fellowship and that Jesus's blood cleanses us from all sin. Light in this letter means honesty before God, not performance.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

In the classic 1986 study, people who wrote about a distressing event for a few days reported fewer health-center visits afterward than people who wrote about neutral topics. Later work found the average effect is modest and varies from person to person.

DO THIS, STEP BY STEP about 15 minutes • check each box

- 1 ☐ Get two sheets of paper. Head one "Mother" and one "Father."
- 2 ☐ For 5 minutes each, list what was true: what they did, what they failed to do, and what they did well. Use short phrases, not paragraphs.
- 3 ☐ Put a star by anything you have never said to anyone. Do not explain it yet.
- 4 ☐ Fold the pages and put them where no one will find them. You do not have to show anyone.
- 5 ☐ Say the declaration. If you feel flooded, stop and do the 5-things-you-can-see reset.

SACRED REFLECTION

1. What have I never said out loud about my father or my mother?

2. Who has earned the right to hear the unedited version?

3. What do I need from them when I say it?

SOFT ACTION

Name your one person and choose a day this week. Start with one true sentence. You do not have to tell it all.

SUPPLICATION

Father, I have kept this in the dark to survive. Give me one safe person and the courage to say one true thing. Amen.

I do not have to carry this alone, and I do not have to carry it in secret.

☐ I said it. I wrote it. That is enough for today.

Same day, other pages: Journal · Standing · Coming Home · Go deeper Workbook Part V Step 1 | Vol. II Step 1

Write on a card the names of who stands with her: Jesus, one safe person, a counselor if you have one, and a companion you love (Big Boy, if you want him there). Tell one of them today that you are beginning something tender and ask if you can check in this week.

Father, You do not send me anywhere alone.
Put people around her and me.

She does not have to be alone this time.

Send one text: "I am starting something hard. Can I check in with you this week?"

A NOTE OF LOVE

It is okay to love people who were not safe. It is okay to stop going near them, too. Both can be true tonight.

“The LORD is near to the brokenhearted and saves the crushed in spirit.”

Ps 34:18 · ESV

The note is mine. The verse is what Scripture actually says.

A NUGGET

You are allowed to write a sentence you will later cross out. Honesty gets drafted before it gets polished.

TODAY I CHOOSE

Today I choose accuracy over loyalty to a story.

A NOTE FROM FUTURE ME

Future Me, you are going to be able to say both things: that you were hurt and that you were loved by somebody, sometimes in the same breath. That is not betrayal. That is accuracy.

Write Future Me one line of your own:

Both Hands: What Was Done and What You Did

TODAY'S GOAL

Hold what was done to you and what you did, without letting one erase the other.

THE BIBLE IN CONTEXT • ROMANS 7:15 (ESV)

In Romans 7:15 Paul describes the struggle of doing what he does not want to do. He is writing to the church in Rome about the law, sin, and grace, and he is not hiding his own struggle. Chapter 8 follows with “There is therefore now no condemnation for those who are in Christ Jesus.”

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

Researchers who study shame and guilt have found that shame (“I am bad”) tends to go with hiding and relapse risk, while guilt (“I did something wrong”) tends to go with repair. This is a pattern in groups of people, not a rule for you.

Source: Tangney & Dearing, 2002. Full citations are in the back of the book.

DO THIS, STEP BY STEP about 15 minutes • check each box

- 1 ☐ Draw a line down the middle of a page. Left: “What was done to me.” Right: “What I did.”
- 2 ☐ Write three to five words in each column. No stories.
- 3 ☐ Read the right-hand column aloud, then say, “I am accountable for this, and I am not disposable.”
- 4 ☐ Read the left-hand column aloud, then say, “This was not my fault.”
- 5 ☐ Say the declaration, then put a hand on your chest for five breaths.

MOTHER WOUND · ADDICTION

SANCTUARY · OPTIONAL

"For I do not understand my own actions. For I do not do what I want, but I do the very thing I hate."

ROMANS 7:15 · ESV

A baby has zero responsibility for what happens to her. None. And later, in your own addiction, some of what you did was your own doing, and some of it hurt people. Both are true at once. Holding only the first makes you a permanent victim. Holding only the second makes you your own warden. Your mother had both hands too: she was hurt, and she failed you. You can see that without excusing it. You need both hands to carry this, and God carries the rest.

SACRED REFLECTION

1. What was done to me that was never mine to carry?

2. What did I do that was mine to own?

3. What would it be like to see my mother with both hands without excusing her?

SOFT ACTION

Make two columns: "Done to me" and "My part." Fill one line each. Stop there.

SUPPLICATION

Lord, give me honest hands, one to set down what was never mine, one to own what was. Hold the rest. Amen.

I can tell the truth about what was done to me and what I did, and still be held.

☐ I said it. I wrote it. That is enough for today.

Same day, other pages: Journal · Standing · Coming Home · Go deeper Workbook 1.6 · 4.4 | Vol. II Ch. 10

The Accuser Says It Was Your Fault

TODAY'S GOAL

Spot the accuser's voice and answer it with what Jesus has already said.

THE BIBLE IN CONTEXT · REVELATION 12:10 (ESV)

Revelation 12:10 is part of John's vision, written to churches under pressure around the end of the first century. The "accuser of our brothers" is cast down, and verse 11 says believers conquered him "by the blood of the Lamb and by the word of their testimony." The accuser's main work in Scripture is accusation, not creativity.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

In a brain-imaging study, simply putting a name on an emotion ("angry," "afraid") was linked to less amygdala activity than other responses. Naming the feeling is a small, free tool, and it is not a cure.

Source: Lieberman et al., 2007. Full citations are in the back of the book.

DO THIS, STEP BY STEP about 15 minutes · check each box

- 1 ☐ Write down the accusing sentence you hear most (for example, "It was your fault"). Use the exact words.
- 2 ☐ Next to it write who is saying it: "My shame," "My family," "The accuser," or "I don't know." Any answer is fine.
- 3 ☐ Under it write one true sentence, such as "I was six months old," or "I am forgiven."
- 4 ☐ Say the true sentence three times out loud, slowly.
- 5 ☐ Say the declaration. Drink a glass of water.

2. Is it specific with a way out, or sweeping with no door?

3. What would Jesus say to that sentence?

When the sentence shows up today, answer it once with Romans 8:1 and move on. Do not debate it.

SUPPLICATION

Jesus, You stand with the harmed. Silence the voice that blames the baby. Amen.

A VERSE TO CARRY

“...for the accuser of our brothers has been thrown down, who accuses them day and night before our God.”

Revelation 12:10 · ESV

A NOTE OF LOVE

The voice that says it was your fault was never God's voice. Listen for the One who speaks gentler.

“What then shall we say to these things? If God is for us, who can be against us?”

Rom 8:31 · ESV

The note is mine. The verse is what Scripture actually says.

A NUGGET

A lie said often does not become true.

It becomes familiar. Familiar is not the same as accurate.

TODAY I CHOOSE

Today I choose to check the sentence before I obey it.

A NOTE FROM FUTURE ME

Future Me, there will be days the old sentence still shows up. You will not have to believe it to hear it. You will know what to write underneath.

Write Future Me one line of your own:

A Body That Learned Early

TODAY'S GOAL

Learn what your body learned, without needing the story.

THE BIBLE IN CONTEXT • PSALM 56:8 (ESV)

Psalm 56 is attributed to David “when the Philistines seized him in Gath.” Verse 8 says, “You have kept count of my tossings; put my tears in your bottle. Are they not in your book?” God is described as someone who notices and keeps track of pain.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

A review of slow-breathing studies found that breathing slowly (around six breaths a minute) is linked to measurable changes in heart-rate variability and to feeling calmer in many people. Trauma writers like Bessel van der Kolk describe how stress can be held in the body, though the science is still being refined.

Sources: Zaccaro et al., 2018; van der Kolk, 2014. Full citations are in the back of the book.

DO THIS, STEP BY STEP about 15 minutes • check each box

- 1 ☐ Sit with your feet flat. Put one hand on your belly. Set a timer for 3 minutes.
- 2 ☐ Breathe in through your nose for 4 counts. Let it out slowly for 6 counts. Repeat.
- 3 ☐ Notice where your body is tight. Do not fix it. Just say, “There.”
- 4 ☐ Say to your body, quietly: “Thank you for watching out for me. We can rest now.”
- 5 ☐ If breathing makes you dizzy or anxious, stop and press your feet into the floor instead.

SACRED REFLECTION

1. Which survival response is my default?

2. How does it show up in my cravings, my relationships, my sleep?

3. What did it save me from?

SOFT ACTION

Put a hand where your body holds it most. Say, "You kept me alive. You can rest now."

SUPPLICATION

God, You saw every tear. Thank You for the body that kept me alive. Teach it that it does not stand watch alone. Amen.

My body is not broken. It is remembering, and it can learn a new rhythm.

☐ I said it. I wrote it. That is enough for today.

Place a hand where your body holds the most tension. Say to it, quietly: "You kept her alive. We are safe now. You can rest." Stay for ten slow breaths. If that spot is numb, put your hand on your chest instead.

Father, thank You for the body that stood watch. Teach it it is not on duty alone.

My body is not broken. It remembers, and it can learn rest.

Stretch for two minutes: reach up, roll your shoulders, shake out your hands.

TODAY'S GOAL

Give the very young part of you a place to be held, without going back into the fire.

THE BIBLE IN CONTEXT • ISAIAH 66:13 (ESV)

Isaiah 66:13 says, "As one whom his mother comforts, so I will comfort you." Isaiah is speaking to Jerusalem after exile. God is described with a mother's tenderness, which does not mean your own mother did that for you. It means God offers it.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

A review of human–animal interaction research reported that contact with a friendly animal is linked to lower stress and, in some studies, changes in oxytocin and cortisol. The findings are mixed and often small, but many people feel steadier with a companion nearby.

Six Resets for an Old Alarm

TODAY'S GOAL

Learn one reset you can do anywhere in under two minutes.

THE BIBLE IN CONTEXT · PSALM 46:10 (ESV)

Psalm 46:10 says, “Be still, and know that I am God.” The Hebrew word for “be still” can mean to relax your grip or let go. The psalm opens with God as “a very present help in trouble” and describes earthquakes, roaring waters, and nations in uproar, so “be still” is spoken in the middle of noise, not after it clears.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

Slow breathing is linked in studies to calmer physiology. Separately, research on emotion regulation suggests that changing how we think about a situation early on (reappraisal) tends to work better than trying to push the feeling down once it is big.

Sources: Zaccaro et al., 2018; Gross, 2002. Full citations are in the back of the book.

DO THIS, STEP BY STEP about 15 minutes · check each box

TODAY'S GOAL

THE BIBLE IN CONTEXT • PSALM 139:23-24 (ESV)

Psalm 139:23–24 reads, “Search me, O God, and know my heart! Try me and know my thoughts! And see if there be any grievous way in me, and lead me in the way everlasting!” It is David’s prayer to be examined by someone who already knows him. He asks God to search, not to condemn.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

Writing about hard experiences helps some people more when they also make plans for what to do next. Research on “if–then” plans found that people who wrote a specific plan (“If X happens, I will do Y”) were more likely to follow through than people who only intended to.

THE BIBLE IN CONTEXT · JEREMIAH 8:22 (ESV)

Jeremiah 8:22 asks, “Is there no balm in Gilead? Is there no physician there? Why then has the health of the daughter of my people not been restored?” Gilead was known for healing balm. Jeremiah is grieving that help existed and the people were not being healed. The verse is not telling anyone to skip medicine. It is lamenting an unhealed wound.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

A Cochrane review concluded that exercise is moderately more effective than no treatment for depression symptoms, although the quality of evidence varies. Exercise is not a replacement for therapy or medication when those are needed.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

Attachment researchers have found that some adults who had difficult childhoods can describe them honestly and coherently and still have secure relationships in adulthood. The term is “earned security.” It suggests that the past shapes us without sealing our future.

A NOTE OF LOVE

What you learned in that house was real. What you choose now is real too, and it is yours.

"Your word is a lamp to my feet and a light to my path."

Ps 119:105 · ESV

The note is mine. The verse is what Scripture actually says.

A NUGGET

What was never said still got learned.

What is said now can be learned too.

TODAY I CHOOSE

Today I choose to speak the rule I want to live by.

A NOTE FROM FUTURE ME

Future Me, I hope the new rule is a habit by now. If it still feels strange, that is how a new language feels at first.

Write Future Me one line of your own:

Lie, Evidence, Truth: "I Wasn't Worth Protecting"

TODAY'S GOAL

Write one lie, the evidence against it, and the truth, in a three-line row.

THE BIBLE IN CONTEXT · 2 CORINTHIANS 10:4-5 (ESV)

In 2 Corinthians 10:3–5 Paul is defending his ministry to a church that had doubts about him. He says, “the weapons of our warfare are not of the flesh but have divine power to destroy strongholds,” and speaks of taking every thought captive to obey Christ. The battle in this passage is over arguments and thoughts, not over bodies or people.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

Cognitive therapy, which teaches people to check their thoughts against evidence, has been shown in clinical trials to help with depression and anxiety. Checking a thought is different from arguing with it, which usually feeds it.

DO THIS, STEP BY STEP about 15 minutes · check each box

- 1 ☐ Write the lie in the first line: “I wasn’t worth protecting.”
- 2 ☐ Second line, “Evidence against this:” list two facts. For example, “I was an infant,” “Infants are not responsible for protecting themselves.”
- 3 ☐ Third line, “What Scripture says:” write the verse reference from today’s page and put it in your own words.
- 4 ☐ Read all three lines aloud in order.
- 5 ☐ Say the declaration.

"For the weapons of our warfare are not of the flesh but have divine power to destroy strongholds. We destroy arguments and every lofty opinion raised against the knowledge of God, and take every thought captive to obey Christ,"

2 CORINTHIANS 10:4-5 · ESV

WHAT THIS MEANS

Paul's weapons are truth, arguments answered, thoughts brought to Christ. Take the lie: I was not worth protecting. Ask who taught it. The evidence you have used is that no one stopped it. But a person's failure to protect you says everything about them and nothing about your worth. Now find one piece of evidence against it, and write the truth you choose instead. God is called the defender of the helpless. Do not give the Sunday School answer. Give the real one.

The Names You Were Given

TODAY'S GOAL

Write down the names you were called, and hand them back.

THE BIBLE IN CONTEXT · ISAIAH 43:1 (ESV)

Isaiah 43:1 comes in the middle of God's word to Israel after the Babylonian exile was announced: "But now thus says the LORD, he who created you... 'Fear not, for I have redeemed you; I have called you by name, you are mine.'" In Scripture, to be called by name means to be known and claimed. The promise was spoken to a people, and Christians read it as the character of the God who calls his own.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

Self-compassion researchers have linked treating yourself kindly, remembering you are not alone in suffering, and noticing pain without exaggerating it to lower depression and anxiety. In one trial, an eight-week self-compassion program improved well-being compared with a waiting list.

Revelation 2:17 is part of Jesus's message to the church in Pergamum: "To the one who conquers I will give some of the hidden manna, and I will give him a white stone, with a new name written on the stone that no one knows except the one who receives it." The meaning of the white stone is debated by scholars. What is clear is the picture of being personally known and renamed by Jesus.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

In a study on writing about life goals, people who wrote for a few days about their best possible future selves reported better well-being afterward than people who wrote about neutral topics. It is a small effect, and it works best when the writing is realistic.

It Was Not Your Fault. You Were Six Months Old.

TODAY'S GOAL

Say it to yourself in the words you would say to a baby: "It was not your fault."

THE BIBLE IN CONTEXT · PSALM 103:13 (ESV)

Psalm 103:13 says, "As a father shows compassion to his children, so the LORD shows compassion to those who fear him." The psalm is attributed to David and praises God for forgiving, healing, and redeeming. It also says, "He knows our frame; he remembers that we are dust" (v. 14). God knows how small and fragile we are.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

Self-compassion studies suggest that speaking to yourself with the kindness you would give a friend is linked to lower self-criticism and less shame. It can feel odd and unearned at first, which is normal.

Missing the Ones Who Hurt You

TODAY'S GOAL

Let yourself miss the people who hurt you, without going back to them.

THE BIBLE IN CONTEXT · PSALM 107:9 (ESV)

Psalm 107 is a song of thanks for God's rescue of people in different kinds of trouble: wanderers, prisoners, the sick, sailors in storms. Verse 9 says, "For he satisfies the longing soul, and the hungry soul he fills with good things." The refrain, "Let them thank the LORD for his steadfast love," returns after each rescue. Longing is treated as real and God as the one who meets it.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

Putting a mixed feeling into words ("I miss him and I am angry at him") is linked to lower emotional intensity in lab studies of affect labeling. Mixed feelings are normal after harm, and they do not mean you should return.

You do not need to remember everything. Do not push for memory. Draw a blank page, and write across it: "Mercy." Tell her: "We do not have to know it all to be free. God sees what we cannot."

Lord, the dark is not dark to You. Hold what I cannot hold.

I do not need perfect memory to tell the truth or to heal.

Psalms 139:12 · ESV

A NOTE OF LOVE

You do not have to remember everything to be healing.
Your body is not asking for a file. It is asking for safety.

“Trust in him at all times, O people; pour out your heart before him; God is a refuge for us.”

Ps 62:8 · ESV

A NUGGET

You do not need a complete file to be a whole person.

What You Did While Surviving

TODAY'S GOAL

Name what you did to survive, without lying and without self-hatred.

THE BIBLE IN CONTEXT · 1 TIMOTHY 1:15 (ESV)

In 1 Timothy 1:15 Paul writes to Timothy in Ephesus, “The saying is trustworthy and deserving of full acceptance, that Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners, of whom I am the foremost.” Paul says this about a man who had persecuted the church. He names what he did and builds his life on grace anyway.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

Studies of shame and guilt in people with substance problems have found that shame-prone people tend to do worse over time, while guilt (“I did something wrong, and I want to repair it”) is linked to better outcomes. How we name what we did matters.

Living Amends, and Forgiving Yourself

TODAY'S GOAL

THE BIBLE IN CONTEXT · PROVERBS 28:13 (ESV)

Proverbs 28:13 says, "Whoever conceals his transgressions will not prosper, but he who confesses and forsakes them will obtain mercy." It sits in a section the book itself says was copied by the men of Hezekiah (Proverbs 25:1). Notice the two verbs: confess and forsake. Mercy follows both.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

A meta-analysis of forgiveness programs found that people who took part reported more forgiveness and less distress than people who did not. Forgiving someone is not the same as reconciling with them.

THE BIBLE IN CONTEXT · 2 CORINTHIANS 4:18 (ESV)

In 2 Corinthians 4:16–18 Paul writes that “we do not lose heart,” and that “as we look not to the things that are seen but to the things that are unseen. For the things that are seen are transient, but the things that are unseen are eternal.” He is writing from deep affliction. The unseen realm is described as real and lasting, not as a place to hunt for threats.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

Research on rumination suggests that repetitive worry about causes and meanings tends to deepen distress and does not solve the problem. A deliberate shift to a concrete action or to something you can see and touch is often more useful.

Four Categories at 2 a.m.

TODAY'S GOAL

Sort what scares you into four plain categories.

THE BIBLE IN CONTEXT · 1 THESSALONIANS 5:21 (ESV)

First Thessalonians 5:21 says, “but test everything; hold fast what is good.” Paul is closing a letter to a young church in Thessalonica and has just said, “Do not despise prophecies” (v. 20). The instruction is to evaluate carefully, not to believe everything and not to dismiss everything.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

Cognitive reappraisal, which means looking at a situation again and asking what else could explain it, has been associated with healthier emotion outcomes than suppressing the feeling. Sorting is a form of reappraisal.

What Keeps Getting Fed: Anger at Both Parents

TODAY'S GOAL

Find what is feeding your anger and starve that part, not the person.

THE BIBLE IN CONTEXT · EPHESIANS 4:26-27 (ESV)

Ephesians 4:26–27 says, “Be angry and do not sin; do not let the sun go down on your anger, and give no opportunity to the devil.” Paul is quoting Psalm 4:4 and is not forbidding anger. He is warning about letting it sit and grow. Anger itself is treated as a signal, not as a sin.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

Studies on rumination suggest that replaying anger in your head tends to keep it going rather than release it. Doing something physical, writing it out, or talking with someone safe may work better than rehearsing it.

- 4 ☐ Write one boundary you can set that protects you without punishing them.
- 5 ☐ Say the declaration.

SACRED REFLECTION

1. Where does my anger really belong?

2. How have I been feeding it, knowingly or not?

3. Where can I safely put it?

SOFT ACTION

Name your anger in one line. Then do one physical thing with it: walk hard, scrub something, push a wall.

SUPPLICATION

Lord, You are not afraid of my anger. Take it, and keep it from feeding on me. Amen.

Everything I can name, I can bring to God and begin to change.

☐ I said it. I wrote it. That is enough for today.

I can decide what I let in.

Practice the thought that God takes you in when no one else did.

THE BIBLE IN CONTEXT · PSALM 27:10 (ESV)

Psalm 27:10 says, “For my father and my mother have forsaken me, but the LORD will take me in.” Psalm 27 is a psalm of David about trusting God in danger. The line acknowledges real abandonment and says God receives the one who was abandoned. It does not say that the abandonment was fine.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

A large meta-analysis found that people with stronger social relationships had a lower risk of early death than people with weaker ones. Belonging seems to matter for health, and God’s taking you in is not the only kind of belonging he provides.

"For my father and my mother have forsaken me, but the LORD will take me in."

WHAT THIS MEANS

Before anything else, get under cover. David knew what it was to be left: his father and mother had forsaken him, and the Lord took him in. You do not have to pretend your parents were safe in order to receive a safe God. Say who you belong to. Say what you cannot do alone. This is not a spell, and it does not guarantee a trouble-free life. It is a child running to the one who is bigger, and being taken in.

TODAY'S GOAL

Start the long, honest work of forgiving without pretending it is done.

THE BIBLE IN CONTEXT · COLOSSIANS 3:13 (ESV)

Colossians 3:13 says, “bearing with one another and, if one has a complaint against another, forgiving each other; as the Lord has forgiven you, so you also must forgive.” Paul is writing to a church about clothing themselves in compassion. Forgiveness here is rooted in what Jesus has done, and it does not erase the “complaint.” The wrong is real.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

In a meta-analysis of forgiveness interventions, people who were helped to forgive reported better outcomes, but the best results came in programs that took time and addressed the emotional experience, not just the decision.

“bearing with one another and, if one has a complaint against another, forgiving each other; as the Lord has forgiven you, so you also must forgive.”

COLOSSIANS 3:13 · ESV

Forgiveness is not saying it was okay and not reconciliation. It is releasing the right to collect. A mother who did not protect you, perhaps because of her own trauma and addiction, still did not protect you. Both are true: she may have been hurt and she hurt you. Forgive in pieces if you have to, out loud, one thing at a time, and let God keep the ledger. If she is gone, forgiveness can happen without her. You can forgive fully and keep every boundary.

SACRED REFLECTION

3. What would I keep, even after forgiving?

Armor for the Daughter Who Wasn't Protected

TODAY'S GOAL

Put on the armor, one piece at a time, with your hands.

THE BIBLE IN CONTEXT · EPHESIANS 6:14-15 (ESV)

Ephesians 6:14–15 says, “Stand therefore, having fastened on the belt of truth, and having put on the breastplate of righteousness, and, as shoes for your feet, having put on the readiness given by the gospel of peace.” Verses 16–17 add the shield of faith, the helmet of salvation, and the sword of the Spirit, which is the word of God. Paul is describing what God provides, and in verse 18 he adds prayer.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

Habit research suggests that actions repeated in the same place and time become automatic partly because the setting itself becomes a cue. Pairing the armor practice with a regular cue, like brushing your teeth, can make it easier to keep.

Conclusions Drawn Before You Could Speak

TODAY'S GOAL

Find one agreement you made as a child and read it as a child's conclusion.

THE BIBLE IN CONTEXT · COLOSSIANS 2:14 (ESV)

Colossians 2:14 speaks of God “by cancelling the record of debt that stood against us with its legal demands. This he set aside, nailing it to the cross.” Paul is writing to a church being pressured by rules and spiritual experiences, and he says Christ has dealt with the list of charges. For Christians this is the basis for believing that the “paperwork” against you is not the last word.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

Writing about an experience several days in a row is associated, on average, with modest improvements in well-being, partly because people begin to organize what happened into a story. It does not work equally well for everyone, and it is not a substitute for treatment.

The Survival Vow: "I'll Never Need Anyone"

TODAY'S GOAL

Hear the vow plainly: "I will never need anyone."

THE BIBLE IN CONTEXT · MATTHEW 5:37 (ESV)

In Matthew 5:37 Jesus says, "Let what you say be simply 'Yes' or 'No'; anything more than this comes from evil." He is teaching in the Sermon on the Mount about oaths, and says people should not need to swear to be believed. The point is honest, simple speech. Vows made out of fear and pain are not treated here as binding on you in Jesus's name.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

Attachment research suggests that people who learned early not to rely on others can learn to depend on safe people later, often through repeated experiences with someone steady. It takes time and it is not about willpower.

A VERSE TO CARRY

“Let what you say be simply 'Yes' or 'No'; anything more than this comes from evil.”

Matthew 5:37 · ESV

A NOTE OF LOVE

A promise you made to survive can be set down gently.
You do not have to rip it off.

“You keep him in perfect peace whose mind is stayed on you, because he trusts in you.”

Isa 26:3 · ESV

The note is mine. The verse is what Scripture actually says.

A NUGGET

Self-reliance was the right answer once. It might not be the right answer forever.

TODAY I CHOOSE

Today I choose to see my vow without being ruled by it.

A NOTE FROM FUTURE ME

Future Me, I hope that vow has loosened. You do not have to need everyone. You just don't have to need no one.

Write Future Me one line of your own:

Releasing a Child's Promise

TODAY'S GOAL

Release a child's promise in prayer, in your own words.

THE BIBLE IN CONTEXT · MARK 10:14 (ESV)

In Mark 10:13–14 people were bringing children to Jesus and the disciples scolded them. Jesus was indignant and said, “Let the children come to me; do not hinder them, for to such belongs the kingdom of God.” The scene shows Jesus welcoming the young and the powerless, and removing the obstacles people put in front of them.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

Compassion-focused approaches suggest that people who speak to their younger or hurting selves with kindness often feel less shame over time. The effects are modest on average and vary a lot from person to person.

Source: Neff, 2003. Full citations are in the back of the book.

DO THIS, STEP BY STEP about 15 minutes · check each box

- 1 ☐ Read yesterday's vow aloud.
- 2 ☐ Write a prayer: “Jesus, she made this promise to survive. I am letting her put it down. Hold it for her.”
- 3 ☐ Pray it aloud or whisper it.
- 4 ☐ Write what you will do differently in one small way this week (ask for help, accept an offer, say no to something).
- 5 ☐ Say the declaration. Do something kind for the child in you, such as a favorite snack or a nap.

"...Let the children come to me; do not hinder them, for to such belongs the kingdom of God."

WHAT THIS MEANS

Jesus welcomed children and did not make them earn it. When you find the vow, speak to the child who made it, not to scold her but to release her. Say: I see you. You made that promise because you had to, and it worked. I am the adult now, and you do not have to hold the door anymore. Then, in Jesus' name, release the vow and replace it with something true: I can let safe people in. I can feel and still be okay. I can want things. A woman who learns this breaks a chain that ran before her.

WHAT STOOD OUT TO ME

SACRED REFLECTION

1. What would I say to the child who made the vow?

2. What new, true sentence do I want to live by?

3. Who could witness me saying it aloud?

SOFT ACTION

Say the release aloud, in your own words, then say your new sentence three times.

SUPPLICATION

Jesus, You welcomed children. Welcome her. Come and bring her home. I take over from here, with You. Amen.

I break the old rule and write a new one with God.

☐ I said it. I wrote it. That is enough for today.

Jesus, welcome her. Come and bring her home.

Words Over You, and Words You Say to Yourself

TODAY'S GOAL

Replace one thing you say to yourself with something true and kind.

THE BIBLE IN CONTEXT · EPHESIANS 4:29 (ESV)

Ephesians 4:29 says, "Let no corrupting talk come out of your mouths, but only such as is good for building up, as fits the occasion, that it may give grace to those who hear." It is addressed to a church about how they speak to each other. It also fits how we speak to ourselves, though that is an application, not the verse's direct subject.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

In studies of self-talk, people who addressed themselves by name or as "you" (instead of "I") while stressed often reported less anxiety and performed better under pressure. It is a simple tool, and results differ among people.

The Shame Covenant: Being Her Daughter

TODAY'S GOAL

Notice the shame that belongs to somebody else and hand it back.

THE BIBLE IN CONTEXT · PSALM 34:5 (ESV)

Psalm 34:5 says, “Those who look to him are radiant, and their faces shall never be ashamed.” The psalm is attributed to David after he escaped from Abimelech (Achish) by pretending to be insane. The shame in view is the disgrace of being abandoned, and the answer is looking to God.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

Research on shame and addiction suggests that shame often drives hiding, and hiding often drives relapse. People who tend toward guilt (“I did something wrong”) over shame (“I am wrong”) tend to take more steps to repair.

Source: Tangney & Dearing, 2002. Full citations are in the back of the book.

DO THIS, STEP BY STEP about 15 minutes · check each box

- 1 ☐ Write one thing you are ashamed of that someone else did to you or put on you.
- 2 ☐ Write: “This is not mine. I am handing it back.”

"Those who look to him are radiant, and their faces shall never be ashamed."

WHAT THIS MEANS

Shame is not the same as guilt. Guilt says I did something wrong. Shame says I am something wrong. A child of an addicted, absent, or complicit parent often carries shame that is not hers: the family's reputation, the secrets, the smell of the house. Shame hides, and the hiding feeds it. Safe light is what shame cannot stand. That means looking toward Him, not at your reflection in other people's faces.

WHAT STOOD OUT TO ME

SACRED REFLECTION

1. What do I feel most ashamed of about my family or myself?

2. Who taught me this shame?

3. What does looking toward Jesus instead look like?

SOFT ACTION

Tell one shame-heavy true thing to your safe person. Notice that you are still here.

SUPPLICATION

Jesus, I look to You. Lift the shame I have worn like a coat. Let my face be uncovered. Amen.

I am not the worst thing that happened to me, and I am not the worst thing I did.

Jesus, You bore shame. Take hers.

I am not the worst thing that happened to me.

The Silence Contract: Family Secrets

TODAY'S GOAL

Break one silence in a safe way.

THE BIBLE IN CONTEXT · PSALM 32:3 (ESV)

Psalm 32:3 says, “For when I kept silent, my bones wasted away through my groaning all day long.” David is describing what concealing sin did to him, and verse 5 continues, “I acknowledged my sin to you, and I did not cover my iniquity; I said, ‘I will confess my transgressions to the LORD,’ and you forgave the iniquity of my sin.” The relief came when he spoke. This is about confession to God, which can include a safe person.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

Studies of expressive writing suggest that putting secrets into words can reduce the load they carry, even when no one reads them. When possible, telling a safe, trained person can help more than writing alone.

"For when I kept silent, my bones wasted away through my groaning all day long."

WHAT THIS MEANS

Somebody told you not to tell, or no one needed to. Families protect secrets over children, and a mother who allows abuse is often keeping the secret too. Telling should be done with support and never in a way that puts you in danger. If a child is at risk now, whether a sibling, a niece, a nephew, or any child near the person who harmed you, protecting that child comes before the family secret: call the Childhelp hotline at 1-800-422-4453, or 911 in an emergency. Your story matters. You are not the keeper of what was done to you.

WHAT STOOD OUT TO ME

First Corinthians 6:17 says, “But he who is joined to the Lord becomes one spirit with him.” Paul is writing to the church at Corinth about sexual immorality and about bodies belonging to the Lord. The ties we form to people and substances are real emotionally and in the body. The Bible’s answer is a stronger union with Christ, not a ritual.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

Attachment research shows that early bonds shape how we connect later, including to people who are not good for us. Trauma-informed therapists often describe this as a pattern that can be understood and gradually changed.

Jeremiah 2:13 says, “for my people have committed two evils: they have forsaken me, the fountain of living waters, and hewed out cisterns for themselves, broken cisterns that can hold no water.” God, speaking through Jeremiah, describes his people trying to meet a real need in places that cannot hold it. It names the thirst as legitimate and the cistern as the problem.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

Behavioral activation, a well-studied approach, helps people re-engage with activities that give a sense of meaning and pleasure instead of avoiding or numbing. In one trial it did as well as other treatments for depression. It works by doing, not by waiting to feel like it.

A VERSE TO CARRY

“for my people have committed two evils: they have forsaken me, the fountain of living waters, and hewed out cisterns for themselves, broken cisterns that can hold no water.”

Jeremiah 2:13 · ESV

A NOTE OF LOVE

Letting go of a number, an app, an object: that is not small. That is a door.

“The LORD is my strength and my shield; in him my heart trusts, and I am helped; my heart exults, and with my song I give thanks to him.”

The Bond You Mistook for Love

TODAY'S GOAL

Learn the difference between a trauma bond and love.

THE BIBLE IN CONTEXT · 1 JOHN 4:18 (ESV)

First John 4:18 says, "There is no fear in love, but perfect love casts out fear. For fear has to do with punishment, and whoever fears has not been perfected in love." John is writing about God's love and about how believers love each other. Love here is described as safe, not as a source of terror.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

Studies of adverse childhood experiences show that early harm can make unsafe relationships feel familiar. Many people feel strongest pulled toward patterns that echo childhood, even when the patterns hurt them.

Control and the Fear of Becoming Her

TODAY'S GOAL

Put down the control you used to survive.

THE BIBLE IN CONTEXT • MATTHEW 6:27 (ESV)

In Matthew 6:27 Jesus asks, “And which of you by being anxious can add a single hour to his span of life?” It is part of the Sermon on the Mount, in a stretch about not being anxious about food, clothes, or tomorrow. He points to birds and flowers, and he is not telling people to be careless. He is telling them they are not in charge of everything.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

Studies of rumination suggest that trying to think your way to total certainty usually increases worry. Acting on one small thing and then letting go tends to help more.

"And which of you by being anxious can add a single hour to his span of life?"

WHAT THIS MEANS

If you can manage every variable, nobody can ambush you again. That made sense. It also means you cannot rest, cannot receive, and may be gripping your life so tightly that you squeeze out the good. The fear of becoming your mother can make you control every move, and the fear itself can pull you toward the very patterns you dread. Hypervigilance feels like safety. Sometimes it is a wound wearing competence as a uniform.

WHAT STOOD OUT TO ME

2. What am I afraid will happen if I let go?

TODAY'S GOAL

THE BIBLE IN CONTEXT · LUKE 10:41-42 (ESV)

Jesus answers, “Martha, Martha, you are anxious and troubled about many things, but one thing is necessary. Mary has chosen the good portion, which will not be taken away from her.” He is not shaming work. He is pointing out that Martha is being pulled apart by it.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

Self-compassion research has linked treating yourself kindly with greater motivation and resilience, not laziness. People who are kind to themselves after a failure are often more likely to try again.

Self-Punishment: Paying for Her Sins and Yours

TODAY'S GOAL

Stop punishing yourself for what the Lord has already carried.

THE BIBLE IN CONTEXT · ROMANS 8:1 (ESV)

Romans 8:1 says, “There is therefore now no condemnation for those who are in Christ Jesus.” It comes after Romans 7, where Paul describes struggling with sin. “Therefore” ties it to the argument: the verdict has already been handled in Christ. Conviction that moves you toward repair can come from God. Condemnation that keeps you in the dock does not.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

Research suggests that harsh self-punishment tends to increase hiding, not repair. Repair after a mistake is more likely when people feel responsible but not worthless.

Source: Tangney & Dearing, 2002. Full citations are in the back of the book.

DO THIS, STEP BY STEP about 15 minutes · check each box

- 1 ☐ Write one way you punish yourself (starving, isolating, overworking, using, harming).
- 2 ☐ Write what you think it pays for.
- 3 ☐ Write: “Jesus already paid for this. I do not need to.”

"There is therefore now no condemnation for those who are in Christ Jesus."

WHAT THIS MEANS

Part of you decided that as long as you keep paying, it is not unpunished. So you sabotage, deny yourself, stay in what hurts, or relapse after good news. Some of the debt you are paying belongs to people who never paid it. The bill was settled. Continuing to pay may feel like humility while it refuses a payment Jesus already made. Repair with people, where it is safe, is good. Punishing yourself is not repair.

TODAY'S GOAL

Get through a dark day safely.

THE BIBLE IN CONTEXT · 1 KINGS 19:4-5 (ESV)

In 1 Kings 19:4–5 Elijah, exhausted and afraid after Jezebel's threat, goes a day's journey into the wilderness and asks that he might die: "It is enough; now, O LORD, take away my life." God does not scold him. An angel touches him and says, "Arise and eat." Rest and food come first. The fuller conversation with God comes later.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

If you are thinking about ending your life, the 988 Suicide & Crisis Lifeline offers free, confidential support by call or text, any hour, in the U.S. Wanting to disappear is a sign of overwhelming pain, not a character flaw, and it can be spoken about out loud.

TODAY'S GOAL

Take back the pen from the accuser's "You're just like her."

THE BIBLE IN CONTEXT · ZECHARIAH 3:1-4 (V. 2 QUOTED) (ESV)

In Zechariah 3:1–4 the prophet sees Joshua the high priest standing before the angel of the LORD, with Satan at his right hand to accuse him. The LORD says, "The LORD rebuke you, O Satan!" and asks, "Is not this a brand plucked from the fire?" Joshua's filthy garments are removed, and he is told, "Behold, I have taken your iniquity away from you, and I will clothe you with pure vestments." The accuser speaks, God answers, and the clothing is changed.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

Self-talk research suggests that how we address ourselves, with distance and kindness, can reduce the sting of harsh self-evaluation. A small shift in wording can change how a thought lands.

Terrain, Not Guilt: What You Inherited

TODAY'S GOAL

Separate what you inherited from what you are guilty of.

THE BIBLE IN CONTEXT • EZEKIEL 18:20 (ESV)

Ezekiel 18:20 says, “The soul who sins shall die. The son shall not suffer for the iniquity of the father, nor the father suffer for the iniquity of the son. The righteousness of the righteous shall be upon himself, and the wickedness of the wicked shall be upon himself.” Ezekiel was speaking to Judean exiles in Babylon who were saying, “The fathers have eaten sour grapes, and the children’s teeth are set on edge.” God answers that each person is accountable for their own sin. You may inherit terrain, but not guilt.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

Twin and family studies suggest that genetics account for a meaningful share (often estimated around 40–60 percent) of vulnerability to addiction, and adverse childhood experiences add risk. Both describe risk, not destiny, and neither is moral guilt.

Drawing the Family Line

TODAY'S GOAL

Find one good thing in your family line and honor it.

THE BIBLE IN CONTEXT • PSALM 78:4 (ESV)

Psalm 78:4 says, “We will not hide them from their children, but tell to the coming generation the glorious deeds of the LORD, and his might, and the wonders that he has done.” Psalm 78 is a long historical psalm attributed to Asaph that tells Israel’s story, including their failures, so that the next generation will not repeat them and will trust God. Passing on truth, good and hard, is the point.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

In a series of studies, people asked to list things they were grateful for each week reported greater well-being than those who listed hassles. Gratitude does not erase pain, but it can balance what we notice.

- 1 ☐ Write three good things from your family, however small (a recipe, a song, a strong aunt, a funny phrase, a work ethic).
- 2 ☐ Circle the one you want to carry forward.
- 3 ☐ Write one way you will carry it (cook it, sing it, say it, do it).
- 4 ☐ If you cannot find any good, write a good thing you would want to start.

Four Layers: How It Passed to You, and How It Stops

TODAY'S GOAL

Map the four layers: body, home, learning, and spirit, and how each can change.

THE BIBLE IN CONTEXT · ROMANS 12:2 (ESV)

Romans 12:2 says, “Do not be conformed to this world, but be transformed by the renewal of your mind, that by testing you may discern what is the will of God, what is good and acceptable and perfect.” Paul writes this after eleven chapters of explaining what God has done. Transformation is described as ongoing and as happening by renewal, which fits how habits are changed.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

Addiction risk is shaped by biology, environment, and learning, and each of those layers can be addressed. Bandura's work suggests that behaviors we learn from watching others can be replaced by new ones we see modeled and practice.

THE BIBLE IN CONTEXT · LAMENTATIONS 5:7 (ESV)

Lamentations 5:7 says, “Our fathers sinned, and are no more; and we bear their iniquities.” Lamentations is a collection of laments over the fall of Jerusalem in 586 BC. This verse is the cry of people feeling the weight of what came before. Notice that it is a lament, not a doctrine. It describes pain and does not command anyone to accept it forever.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

Early research on abuse found that a minority (often cited around one-third) of abused children went on to abuse their own children, which means most did not. The finding is old and debated, but it supports the point that the pattern can be broken.

For each pattern, ask where it may have started. What was done to your mother? What was done to your grandmother? What did your family lose, flee, or hide? You will not always find an answer, and you are not required to. Understanding your mother's story is not excusing it, and it does not mean you owe her anything. It may help you see that the harm did not start with you, and that some of what looked like cruelty was another wounded person's survival. Hold it with humility.

Standing in the Gap for a Family That Didn't Stand for You

TODAY'S GOAL

Stand in the gap in prayer, without taking on the family's sin as your debt.

THE BIBLE IN CONTEXT • NEHEMIAH 1:6 (ESV)

In Nehemiah 1:6 Nehemiah prays, “let your ear be attentive and your eyes open, to hear the prayer of your servant that I now pray before you day and night for the people of Israel your servants, confessing the sins of the people of Israel, which we have sinned against you. Even I and my father’s house have sinned.” He was cupbearer to the Persian king, hearing that Jerusalem’s walls were broken. He prays honestly, includes himself, and then acts.

NEHEMIAH 1:6 · ESV

WHAT THIS MEANS

Nehemiah prayed for his people with the words we have sinned, including himself. Daniel did too. Many believers find this meaningful for family patterns: you do not take on their guilt, you agree with God about what is true, and you ask for mercy on your line. It is a practice to consider, not a requirement for freedom or a magic formula. If it does not sit right, skip it and talk to a pastor you trust. It may feel strange to pray for those who failed you; you can do it without defending them.

TODAY'S GOAL

Write a prayer for those who came before and those who come after.

THE BIBLE IN CONTEXT · EXODUS 34:6 (ESV)

Exodus 34:6 says, “The LORD, the LORD, a God merciful and gracious, slow to anger, and abounding in steadfast love and faithfulness.” In the next verses God also says he visits the iniquity of fathers on the children to the third and fourth generation. Read together, verse 6 is the lead: his character is mercy. The generational line is a real consequence of sin spreading, while his steadfast love extends to thousands.

THE BIBLE IN CONTEXT • PROVERBS 26:2 (ESV)

Proverbs 26:2 says, "Like a sparrow in its flitting, like a swallow in its flying, a curse that is causeless does not alight." Proverbs uses vivid images from nature. The verse says an undeserved curse does not land. Words spoken over you that have no cause do not have the power they claimed.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

Research on self-talk suggests that how you speak to yourself, even something as small as using your name, can change how a stress response feels. Replacing a familiar phrase with a new one takes repetition.

WHAT THIS MEANS

It is just how we are. Everybody in my family is like this. We die young. We do not do money. We are all addicts. We say these like fate, and they become fate in the telling. That is not prophecy. It is a pattern, and patterns can end. Proverbs 26:2 says a causeless curse does not land. EPHESIANS 4:23-24 · ESV

WHAT THIS MEANS

You can renounce a pattern perfectly and still repeat it, because nobody ever showed you something different. Prayer closes a door. Practice builds a house. You may have to learn calm, boundaries, money, rest, and asking for help like a second language. Find someone who does the thing you never saw: a sponsor, a mentor, a therapist, a friend with a steady life, and get close enough to watch. Practice badly on purpose, because practicing badly is how it is learned. This is also reparenting yourself.

THE BIBLE IN CONTEXT · EXODUS 20:12 (ESV)

Exodus 20:12 says, "Honor your father and your mother, that your days may be long in the land that the LORD your God is giving you." It is the fifth of the Ten Commandments. In the Bible, honor is not blind obedience to harm, and elsewhere in Scripture God warns against abuse and calls parents to care for their children. Honor can mean treating someone with basic dignity, telling the truth about them, and keeping your distance when needed.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

Attachment research suggests that people with painful childhoods can build secure relationships over time, even if they keep boundaries with their families. Distance and dignity are not opposites.

Joshua 24:15 says, “And if it is disagreeable in your sight to serve the LORD, choose this day whom you will serve, whether the gods your fathers served in the region beyond the River, or the gods of the Amorites in whose land you dwell. But as for me and my house, we will serve the LORD.” Joshua says this at Shechem, near the end of his life. Notice “choose this day.” He names what came before and picks anyway.

Second Corinthians 2:11 says, “so that we would not be outwitted by Satan; for we are not ignorant of his designs.” Paul has just urged the church to forgive and comfort a repentant man. He says being unforgiving would give Satan an advantage. Knowing the patterns of temptation and division is a defensive skill.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

Relapse-prevention research found that identifying high-risk situations (people, places, feelings) and planning responses to them helps people avoid a lapse becoming a full relapse.

"so that we would not be outwitted by Satan; for we are not ignorant of his designs."

WHAT THIS MEANS

Volume II lays out twelve patterns that show up in the lives of people who have been hurt and stuck: being unwanted, early wounds, a false name, isolation, a coping tool, a shame loop, agreements, normalizing, passing it on, derailing the calling, waiting too long, silencing the story. This is a pattern-recognition tool, not a revealed schedule. Scripture also says much of our trouble comes from our own hearts, other people, and a broken world. Use it to notice, not to decide every hard thing was a scripted attack, and never to blame yourself for what was done to you.

Isolation: Your Family Taught You to Be Alone

TODAY'S GOAL

Reach out to one person today. Not tomorrow.

THE BIBLE IN CONTEXT · ECCLESIASTES 4:9-10 (ESV)

Ecclesiastes 4:9–10 says, “Two are better than one, because they have a good reward for their toil. For if they fall, one will lift up his fellow. But woe to him who is alone when he falls and has not another to lift him up!” The author, called the Preacher, is looking at life under the sun and sees the cost of isolation. Companionship is described as a practical good.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

A large analysis found that stronger social connection was associated with a substantially lower risk of death, on a scale comparable to well-known health risks. Isolation is a real risk, not just a mood.

ECCLESIASTES 4:9-10 · ESV

Isolation makes almost every harm worse. Abusers isolate. Addiction isolates. Families that keep secrets isolate their children, and a baby who learned that no one comes may still believe it. This is why you need five kinds of people, not one: the one who knows everything, the one further ahead, the one behind you, the one who is just a friend, and the one allowed to correct you. A meeting, a sponsor, a counselor, and a church small group can fill the first of these.

THE BIBLE IN CONTEXT · 1 PETER 5:8-9 (ESV)

First Peter 5:8–9 says, “Be sober-minded; be watchful. Your adversary the devil prowls around like a roaring lion, seeking someone to devour. Resist him, firm in your faith, knowing that the same kinds of suffering are being experienced by your brotherhood throughout the world.” Peter writes to believers facing persecution. “Sober-minded” and “watchful” describe alert, steady attention. “Resist him, firm in your faith” puts the weight on staying planted, not on running around.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

Research on urge surfing and mindfulness-based relapse prevention suggests that cravings rise, peak, and pass, and that noticing the process without acting can reduce relapse risk. Cravings tend to be shorter than they feel.

“Be sober-minded; be watchful. Your adversary the devil prowls around like a roaring lion, seeking someone to devour. Resist him, firm in your faith, knowing that the same kinds of suffering are being experienced by your brotherhood throughout the world.”

A NOTE OF LOVE

You can name a chain without being chained. Look at it, then break the weakest link.

HALT: Hungry, Angry, Lonely, Tired

TODAY'S GOAL

Run the HALT check on yourself: hungry, angry, lonely, tired.

THE BIBLE IN CONTEXT · PSALM 127:2 (ESV)

Psalm 127:2 says, "It is in vain that you rise up early and go late to rest, eating the bread of anxious toil; for he gives to his beloved sleep." Psalm 127 is a song of ascents attributed to Solomon, and it opens with "Unless the LORD builds the house, those who build it labor in vain." Rest is presented as a gift, not a weakness.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

HALT is a recovery slogan, not a study. But the states it names (hunger, anger, loneliness, tiredness) match the kinds of situations relapse-prevention researchers describe as raising the risk of a lapse. Checking in on your basic needs is a simple, practical defense.

Source: Marlatt & Gordon, 1985. Full citations are in the back of the book.

DO THIS, STEP BY STEP about 15 minutes · check each box

- 1 ☐ Ask yourself four questions out loud: Am I hungry? Angry? Lonely? Tired? Say yes or no to each.
- 2 ☐ Fix the first yes. Eat something with protein. Drink water. Text someone. Lie down for 20 minutes.
- 3 ☐ Write what you will keep in your bag or kitchen so the first one is easy (nuts, a granola bar, water).
- 4 ☐ Set one reminder on your phone at your usual low point of the day: "HALT."

The Craving Wave

TODAY'S GOAL

Ride one craving wave from start to finish without acting on it.

THE BIBLE IN CONTEXT · 1 CORINTHIANS 10:13 (ESV)

First Corinthians 10:13 says, “No temptation has overtaken you that is not common to man. God is faithful, and he will not let you be tempted beyond your ability, but with the temptation he will also provide the way of escape, that you may be able to endure it.” Paul is writing to a church in Corinth about Israel’s failures in the wilderness. The promise is that there is a way out, and it comes with the temptation, not after.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

Studies of “urge surfing,” in which people notice a craving rise and fall instead of fighting or obeying it, suggest that cravings tend to peak and pass within a limited time. A mindfulness-based relapse prevention program reduced substance use over time in one large trial. These tools support treatment. They do not replace it.

Source: Bowen & Marlatt, 2009. Full citations are in the back of the book.

DO THIS, STEP BY STEP about 15 minutes · check each box

- 1 ☐ When the craving hits, say, “This is a wave.” Set a timer for 10 minutes.
- 2 ☐ Notice where you feel it in your body. Rate it from 0 to 10 every two minutes and write the number.
- 3 ☐ Breathe in for 4, out for 6, and drink a full glass of water.
- 4 ☐ When the timer ends, notice whether the number moved. Write it down.
- 5 ☐ Say the declaration. If the craving is dangerous, call someone, go to a meeting, or call 988 or SAMHSA at 1-800-662-4357.

SANCTUARY · OPTIONAL

"No temptation has overtaken you that is not common to man. God is faithful, and he will not let you be tempted beyond your ability, but with the temptation he will also provide the way of escape, that you may be able to endure it."

WHAT THIS MEANS

A craving often peaks and fades within fifteen to thirty minutes, even when it does not feel that way. Say it aloud: I am having a craving. It will peak and pass. Set a timer. Change your body: cold water, twenty pushups, walk outside. Change your location. Call, do not text. Eat and drink. Pray short. Play the tape forward. You only have to outlast a wave. A body that never learned to self-soothe can learn it, one wave at a time.

Proverbs 14:12 says, "There is a way that seems right to a man, but its end is the way to death." The verse is repeated word for word in Proverbs 16:25. Proverbs urges people to look at where a path ends, not just how it feels at the start.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

In studies, people who were shown realistic images of their future selves made choices that favored their future more than people who were not. Seeing the end of the story makes it feel more real.

TODAY'S GOAL

THE BIBLE IN CONTEXT · ISAIAH 55:2 (ESV)

Isaiah 55:2 says, “Why do you spend your money for that which is not bread, and your labor for that which does not satisfy? Listen diligently to me, and eat what is good, and delight yourselves in rich food.” It is part of God's open invitation to the thirsty to “come, buy and eat” without money. The question is about what satisfies, and it invites real nourishment.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

Behavioral activation research suggests that adding even small, rewarding activities can lift mood over time, and that people often do not feel like doing them until after they begin. Replace a coping tool with another coping tool, not with a blank.

TODAY'S GOAL

Romans 12:21 says, “Do not be overcome by evil, but overcome evil with good.” Paul has just told believers not to repay evil for evil and to live peaceably as far as it depends on them. The verse is practical: overcome by doing good, not just by avoiding the bad.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

Research on behavioral activation and on environment design suggests that filling empty time and space with planned, meaningful activity makes old habits less automatic. Empty time is risky time.

"Do not be overcome by evil, but overcome evil with good."

Jesus tells a story of a swept house left empty (Luke 11:24-26), and the last state was worse than the first. Whatever your view of the spiritual side, the practical truth stands: when something leaves your life, something must take its place. Where fear lived, put love. Where shame lived, put belonging. Where craving lived, put satisfaction. For a home, this can mean worship music, a routine, a regular meal, a table prayer. Overcome with good, in small and visible ways.

THE BIBLE IN CONTEXT · 1 CORINTHIANS 14:40 (ESV)

First Corinthians 14:40 says, "But all things should be done decently and in order." Paul is giving instructions for worship in Corinth, where meetings had become chaotic. Applied to daily life, it supports building routines. That is an application of the principle, not what the verse is directly about.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

Habit research suggests that routines tied to a consistent place and time become more automatic, so they depend less on motivation. This is why the same wake-up, meal, and wind-down times can steady a hard season.

Self-efficacy research suggests that taking small, successful actions builds confidence for larger ones. Setting and keeping a small boundary makes the next one easier.

THE BIBLE IN CONTEXT · MICAH 7:8 (ESV)

Micah 7:8 says, “Rejoice not over me, O my enemy; when I fall, I shall rise; when I sit in darkness, the LORD will be a light to me.” Micah is speaking for a people who have fallen and are waiting for God to act. The verse does not say “if I never fall.” It says “when I fall, I shall rise.”

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

Relapse-prevention researchers describe the “abstinence violation effect,” where a lapse leads to shame and the thought “I have blown it,” which can lead to continued use. Planning ahead to treat a lapse as a signal instead of a verdict helps.

- 1 ☐ Write the plan: “If I slip, I will call _____ within one hour.”
- 2 ☐ Write the first three things you will do (call, leave, eat, tell, go to a meeting).
- 3 ☐ Write a sentence to say to yourself instead of “I blew it”: “This is a lapse, not a life sentence.”
- 4 ☐ Tell the person on your plan that they are on it.

Where Was He When You Were Six Months Old?

TODAY'S GOAL

Ask the question out loud: where were you?

THE BIBLE IN CONTEXT • GENESIS 16:13 (ESV)

In Genesis 16 Hagar, a mistreated servant, runs into the wilderness, and the angel of the LORD finds her. She names God, "You are a God of seeing," and says, "Truly here I have seen him who looks after me." She is the only person in Scripture to give God a name in this way. The story does not explain her suffering. It shows that God sees her.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

Writing honestly about painful questions, including spiritual ones, is associated in studies with modest benefits for many people. You do not need an answer to benefit from asking.

DO THIS, STEP BY STEP about 15 minutes • check each box

- 1 ☐ Write the question as plainly as you can: "God, where were you when _____?"
- 2 ☐ Write what you feel when you ask it (anger, fear, numbness, hope).

- 4 ☐ Write one sentence of what you want from God now, even if it is "I don't know."

GENESIS 16:13 · ESV

Hagar, a mistreated servant who had run away, is the first person in Scripture to give God a name, and it is the God who sees. He was near the brokenhearted, in the room, not outside it, not arriving later. That is harder than absence, because it means He saw. It is also better than absence, because it means you were never alone, even when you felt completely alone. I do not know why He did not stop it. I know He saw, and I know He kept the record of every tear.

Isaiah 49:15 says, "Can a woman forget her nursing child, that she should have no compassion on the son of her womb? Even these may forget, yet I will not forget you." Isaiah is speaking to Zion, who had said, "The LORD has forsaken me." God does not argue with the feeling. He says even the most unlikely forgetting will not happen to him.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

Studies of expressive writing show that people often benefit from wrestling with painful questions on paper over several days, even without resolving them. Lament has always been a way to bring pain to God.

In John 9:1–3 the disciples ask about a man born blind, “Rabbi, who sinned, this man or his parents, that he was born blind?” Jesus answers, “It was not that this man sinned, or his parents, but that the works of God might be displayed in him.” Jesus rejects the assumption that suffering is a direct punishment for a particular sin.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

Research on shame suggests that blaming yourself for harm done to you increases hiding and distress. Reframing responsibility accurately can reduce the weight.

Angry at God

TODAY'S GOAL

Be angry at God out loud, with the psalms to lead.

THE BIBLE IN CONTEXT • PSALM 13:1-2 (ESV)

Psalm 13:1-2 says, “How long, O LORD? Will you forget me forever? How long will you hide your face from me? How long must I take counsel in my soul and have sorrow in my heart all the day?” It is a short psalm of David. It begins in complaint and ends in trust (“I will sing to the LORD”). About a third of the psalms are laments, which means God’s own book gives you permission to be honest.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

Writing about strong negative feelings, including anger, is linked in studies to improved well-being for many people when it moves toward meaning-making over time. Expression alone helps most when it leads somewhere.

"How long, O LORD? Will you forget me forever? How long will you hide your face from me? How long must I take counsel in my soul and have sorrow in my heart all the day? How long shall my enemy be exalted over me?"

WHAT THIS MEANS

Scripture preserves complaints. Jesus quoted a psalm of abandonment from the cross. Job accused God and God said Job had spoken rightly of Him. Lamentations is grief laid out before God, and God kept it in the canon. He can handle your rage. What He cannot work with is your distance. Taking Your Case Out of Court

TODAY'S GOAL

Hand one case over to the only fair judge.

THE BIBLE IN CONTEXT • ROMANS 12:19 (ESV)

Romans 12:19 says, “Beloved, never avenge yourselves, but leave it to the wrath of God, for it is written, ‘Vengeance is mine, I will repay, says the Lord.’” Paul is quoting Deuteronomy 32:35. The command is not “do nothing” in cases of abuse. Elsewhere Scripture calls on authorities to punish wrongdoing (Romans 13:4). It says personal revenge is not yours to carry out.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

Studies of forgiveness programs find that people who release the desire for revenge, with support, generally report less distress. Releasing revenge does not mean the harm did not matter or that it was not a crime.

Lamentations 3:26 says, “It is good that one should wait quietly for the salvation of the LORD.” It sits in the middle of a poem written after the fall of Jerusalem. The author has just said, “The steadfast love of the LORD never ceases,” in the midst of grief. Quiet waiting is described as good, not as failure.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

In one study, people who walked for 90 minutes in a natural setting showed less rumination than people who walked in an urban setting. Time in quiet, green places can help a busy mind settle.

A weaned child is not crying for milk. It simply rests. The psalmist says he has chosen not to occupy himself with things too great for him.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

Slow breathing and gentle contact, like petting a calm animal, have both been associated with calmer physiology in studies. Neither is a cure, and both are easy to try.

All Things, Honestly

TODAY'S GOAL

Look at "all things work together" honestly, without calling the harm good.

THE BIBLE IN CONTEXT • ROMANS 8:28 (ESV)

Romans 8:28 says, "And we know that for those who love God all things work together for good, for those who are called according to his purpose." Paul does not say all things are good. He says God works in all things, for the good of those who love him, inside a chapter that also names suffering, groaning, and waiting. Verse 29 shows the "good" as becoming like Jesus.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

Studies of post-traumatic growth suggest that some people report meaning and growth after trauma, and that this tends to come with, not instead of, distress. It is not required, and it is not guaranteed. In life-goal writing studies, making meaning was linked to better well-being.

"And we know that for those who love God all things work together for good, for those who are called according to his purpose."

It does not say all things are good. It says God works in all things toward good, and the next verse defines that good as being made like Christ. It is not a promise that your story will have a satisfying plot, and it is not meant to be said to someone in fresh grief. It is a promise that nothing in your story, including what happened when you were a baby and the years in your addiction, is unusable in His hands. It was not good. It will not be wasted. Those are different things.

SACRED REFLECTION

1. What do I need Him to use rather than explain?

2. What have I been tempted to call good that was not?

3. What do I hope He will redeem?

Al-Anon (al-anon.org) and similar family groups exist for people affected by someone else's drinking or drug use. They teach that you did not cause it, cannot control it, and cannot cure it, and many people find that freeing. Support groups are free.

Psalm 9:9 says, "The LORD is a stronghold for the oppressed, a stronghold in times of trouble." David praises God as the one who judges rightly and remembers the afflicted. The verse puts responsibility for justice in God's hands, not in the hands of the victim.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

THE BIBLE IN CONTEXT · PSALM 139:8 (ESV)

Psalm 139:8 says, "If I ascend to heaven, you are there! If I make my bed in Sheol, you are there!" Sheol is the place of the dead in Hebrew thought. The psalm says there is no place so far that God is not present. It is a statement of presence, not a prediction about outcomes.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

Writing about a hopeful but realistic future has been linked to better well-being in studies, and works best when paired with concrete steps. Hope is not a guarantee, and it is not a denial of how things are.

"If I ascend to heaven, you are there! If I make my bed in Sheol, you are there!"

WHAT THIS MEANS

I am not God, and I will not pretend to know where she is. But addiction is not the unforgivable sin, God judges the heart and not the manner of death (1 Samuel 16:7), and Romans 8:38-39 lists death first among the things that cannot separate us from His love. A cry does not have to be eloquent: the thief on the cross got one sentence (Luke 23:42-43). You can hope, legitimately, without lying to yourself. Hope is not certainty, and you do not need certainty to stop tormenting yourself.

Romans 8:15 says, “For you did not receive the spirit of slavery to fall back into fear, but you have received the Spirit of adoption as sons, by whom we cry, ‘Abba! Father!’” Paul uses adoption language. In Roman culture an adopted son had the same legal rights as a natural child. The verse is about belonging, not debt.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

Attachment research suggests that people who did not feel secure as children can come to feel more secure through steady relationships later, including with God, mentors, and community, although the evidence on religious attachment is still developing.

John 11:35 is the shortest verse in the Bible: "Jesus wept." It comes at the tomb of his friend Lazarus, though Jesus was about to raise him. Even knowing how the story would turn, he cried. Grief is not a lack of faith.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

Research on bereavement suggests people grieve in many different ways and that the most common outcome is resilience, though grief can be intense and can come in waves. Grief waves are normal, and prolonged or overwhelming grief deserves professional help.

- 1 ☐ Write the person you need distance from or from whom you want more space.
- 2 ☐ Write what you will do with the space (pray, rest, recover).
- 3 ☐ Write one gentle sentence you can say: "I love you, and I need space right now."

SACRED REFLECTION

1. Which of the four fits my relationship with my mother now?

2. What would have to change for that to change?

3. What am I grieving that has no funeral?

SOFT ACTION

Write which kind you are choosing, the cost, and the next step.

SUPPLICATION

Loving someone does not require me to die with them.

The Release

TODAY'S GOAL

Release what you cannot carry.

THE BIBLE IN CONTEXT · PSALM 55:22 (ESV)

Psalm 55:22 says, “Cast your burden on the LORD, and he will sustain you; he will never permit the righteous to be moved.” David wrote this in distress over betrayal by a close friend. “Cast” is a physical word, like throwing something off your back. The promise is that God sustains, not that the burden vanishes instantly.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

Naming heavy feelings in words has been linked to reduced intensity of emotional reactions in lab studies. Naming each burden before you hand it over can make the handing-over more real.

DO THIS, STEP BY STEP about 15 minutes · check each box

- 1 ☐ Write three burdens you are still carrying, in a line each.
- 2 ☐ Next to each write: “I cannot fix this.”
- 3 ☐ Hold a heavy object (a book, a bag of rice). Say, “I cast this on you, Lord.” Put it down.
- 4 ☐ Notice the lightness in your hands. Take three breaths.
- 5 ☐ Say the declaration.

"Cast your burden on the LORD, and he will sustain you; he will never permit the righteous to be moved."

WHAT THIS MEANS

Say it: I release ___ into the hands of God. I am not their savior, judge, jailer, or payment. What was good, I keep. What was mine, I take back. What was theirs, I return. I forgive them, and I am not available for more harm. Then replace the space on purpose, because holes get filled by whatever is nearest. Put something good in it: a person, a practice, a purpose.

WHAT STOOD OUT TO ME

SACRED REFLECTION

1. Who am I releasing?

2. What am I keeping, and what am I returning?

3. What will I put in the space?

SOFT ACTION

Known Before You Were Formed

TODAY'S GOAL

Believe that you were known and wanted before you were hurt.

THE BIBLE IN CONTEXT • PSALM 139:13-14 (ESV)

Psalm 139:13-14 says, “For you formed my inward parts; you knitted me together in my mother’s womb. I praise you, for I am fearfully and wonderfully made. Wonderful are your works; my soul knows it very well.” David wrote this as a song of praise. The verse says that God was involved in your making, no matter what the circumstances of your birth or your parents’ choices were.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

Studies on self-compassion suggest that seeing yourself as worthy of care, not because of achievement, is linked to better emotional health. Worth is not something you have to prove.

DO THIS, STEP BY STEP about 15 minutes • check each box

- 1 ☐ Write: “Before anything happened, God made me. He saw me as _____.”
- 2 ☐ Write three things about yourself that you like or that make you you (your laugh, your grit, your love for animals).

"For you formed my inward parts; you knitted me together in my mother's womb. I praise you, for I am fearfully and wonderfully made. Wonderful are your works; my soul knows it very well."

PSALM 139:13-14 · ESV

WHAT THIS MEANS

God knew you before you were formed, and what was done to you never canceled what He had in mind for you. Scripture says He knitted you together in your mother's womb. Your mother's womb was not the whole story, and she was not the one who made you; He was. I cannot tell you the harm was aimed at your calling. I do not know that. But the place that hurt most is often the place you understand best, and that can become a place you help from.

WHAT STOOD OUT TO ME

SACRED REFLECTION

1. What was hurt earliest, and what did it try to take?

2. What do I see when I picture myself as known and wanted by God?

3. What does it change?

SOFT ACTION

Look at a photo of yourself as a child. Say, "Known and wanted by God."

SUPPLICATION

Father, You knitted me together. Let that be the final word over me. Amen.

God's knowing came first. The harm does not get the final word.

The Wound as a Door

TODAY'S GOAL

Notice that your wound can become a door for someone else.

THE BIBLE IN CONTEXT · 2 CORINTHIANS 1:3-4 (ESV)

Second Corinthians 1:3–4 says, “Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of mercies and God of all comfort, who comforts us in all our affliction, so that we may be able to comfort those who are in any affliction, with the comfort with which we ourselves are comforted by God.” Paul wrote it after severe hardship in Asia. Comfort is received so it can be passed on. It does not say your pain was good, only that it can be used.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

In a study of people in alcohol recovery, those who helped other people in Alcoholics Anonymous were more likely to stay sober over the following year than those who did not. Helping from a place of stability seems to benefit the helper as well.

2 CORINTHIANS 1:3-4 · ESV

WHAT THIS MEANS

Joseph was starved of family and put in charge of feeding families. Moses was drawn out of the water and sent to draw a nation out. Often, the fruit comes in the shape of the wound. Not always, not automatically, and never as a reason to call the wound good. Look at yours as a map, not a verdict. The so that is the whole point: you were not comforted to feel better only. You were comforted so you would know the road for someone else.

WHAT STOOD OUT TO ME

1. Where do my wound and my compassion overlap?

2. Who might need exactly what I know?

3. What is one small way I could offer it?

TODAY'S GOAL

Meet the woman you are becoming and say hello.

THE BIBLE IN CONTEXT · JOHN 15:16 (ESV)

John 15:16 says, “You did not choose me, but I chose you and appointed you that you should go and bear fruit and that your fruit should abide, so that whatever you ask the Father in my name, he may give it to you.” Jesus says this to the disciples at the Last Supper, in the passage about the vine and the branches. “Appointed” and “bear fruit” mean you are chosen for something, but the fruit comes from staying connected to him.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

Self-efficacy research suggests that imagining and practicing the person you want to be, then taking small steps that match, builds confidence over time. Identity is built by actions.

"You did not choose me, but I chose you and appointed you that you should go and bear fruit and that your fruit should abide, so that whatever you ask the Father in my name, he may give it to you."

WHAT THIS MEANS

Chosen is not a rank. It is an assignment with a destination. Scripture uses the language of being chosen of every believer, not only the dramatic ones. Many people in Scripture were marked early, isolated, delayed, misunderstood, and broken in a specific place before they were used. The cost is real: lost people, delay that looks like denial, being misunderstood by good people. It does not mean God likes you more. Your assignment may start with simply being the one who stays in recovery.

Legacy is not only blood. It is who you invest in.

TODAY I CHOOSE

Today I choose to pass on something good.

A NOTE FROM FUTURE ME

Future Me, I hope somebody carries something good because of you.

Write Future Me one line of your own:

The Commission

TODAY'S GOAL

Close the ninety days by commissioning yourself, honestly and with a next step.

THE BIBLE IN CONTEXT • NEHEMIAH 4:14 (ESV)

Nehemiah 4:14 says, “And I looked and arose and said to the nobles and to the officials and to the rest of the people, ‘Do not be afraid of them. Remember the Lord, who is great and awesome, and fight for your brothers, your sons, your daughters, your wives, and your homes.’” Nehemiah is rebuilding the wall of Jerusalem under threat. The people worked with a tool in one hand and a weapon in the other, and they finished.

WHAT RESEARCH SUGGESTS

Habit research suggests new behaviors can take around two months or more to become automatic, and that missing days does not undo progress. Writing about your future in a realistic way is associated with better well-being.

DO THIS, STEP BY STEP about 15 minutes • check each box

- 1 ☐ Look back through your ninety days. Write three things that changed.
- 2 ☐ Write one practice you will keep (morning armor, craving surfing, HALT, a daily call, a meeting).
- 3 ☐ Write one thing you will do in the next thirty days to build on this.
- 4 ☐ Write a short commission to yourself: “I am _____. I am here to _____.”
- 5 ☐ Say the declaration. Tell one person what you finished.

MY NOTES WHILE I DO THESE STEPS

Too much today? Stop at any step. Press your feet into the floor, name five things you can see, and reach for someone safe. Numbers are at the back.

"...Do not be afraid of them. Remember the Lord, who is great and awesome, and fight for your brothers, your sons, your daughters, your wives, and your homes."

WHAT THIS MEANS

WHAT STOOD OUT TO ME

SACRED REFLECTION

1. What is different about me than on Day 1?

2. What is the next layer I can see now?

3. Who will walk with me into it?

SOFT ACTION

Sign it, date it, and tell one person. Then pick your next date.

SUPPLICATION

Father, thank You for ninety days of honesty. Keep me standing, keep me building, and keep me Yours. In Jesus' name. Amen.

I am the woman God chose to stand and to build. Not someday. Today. The line stops here.

☐ I said it. I wrote it. That is enough for today.

Same day, other pages: Journal · Standing · Coming Home · Go deeper Workbook Closing | Vol. II Ch. 51

Sit with three pieces of paper: the letter from her (write it if you have not), the letter from the new you (Day 88), and a promise you sign today. Read them aloud. Say: "Welcome home. We are a team. We are not finished, and we are not alone." Date and sign the last page. Celebrate.

Father, thank You for ninety days. Keep us standing, keep us building, and keep us Yours.

I am the woman God chose to stand and build, and she is with me.

□ Do something joyful and celebratory today. Tell someone you finished.

A VERSE TO CARRY

“...Do not be afraid of them. Remember the Lord, who is great and awesome, and fight for your brothers, your sons, your daughters, your wives, and your homes.”

Nehemiah 4:14 · ESV

A NOTE OF LOVE

You did it. You survived. Now we rebuild, and you already started.

“but they who wait for the LORD shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings like eagles; they shall run and not be weary; they shall walk and not faint.”

Isa 40:31 · ESV

The note is mine. The verse is what Scripture actually says.

A NUGGET

Ninety days is not the end. It is a foundation.

TODAY I CHOOSE

Today I choose to keep building.

A NOTE FROM FUTURE ME

Future Me, you finished. Whatever comes next, remember that you did this. You survived. Now we rebuild.

The Challenge Jar

Cut along the dashed lines, fold each card, and keep them in a jar or envelope. Draw one at random any time — when a day feels flat, when it feels too heavy, or when you finish early. Use as many or as few as you like.

CHALLENGE

Text someone a photo of something beautiful you see today.

CHALLENGE

Drink a full glass of water before anything else.

CHALLENGE

Walk around the block and count how many different trees or flowers you see.

CHALLENGE

Listen to a song you loved as a kid, all the way through.

CHALLENGE

Write three things you can smell, taste, or feel right now.

CHALLENGE

Tidy one drawer for five minutes.

CHALLENGE

Sincerely compliment someone.

CHALLENGE

Take a slow bath or shower and thank your body.

CHALLENGE

Call someone you have not talked to in a month.

CHALLENGE

Stand in sunlight for five minutes.

CHALLENGE

Make your bed with care.

CHALLENGE

Give away one thing you no longer need.

CHALLENGE

Eat something colorful.

CHALLENGE

Write a thank-you note to someone who helped you.

CHALLENGE

Turn off screens an hour before bed.

CHALLENGE

Pray the Lord's Prayer slowly, one line at a time.

CHALLENGE

Do ten slow stretches.

CHALLENGE

Doodle for ten minutes with no goal.

CHALLENGE

Sing one worship song out loud, even badly.

CHALLENGE

Read one psalm aloud.

CHALLENGE

Smile at yourself in the mirror and say your new name.

CHALLENGE

Write one thing you did well today.

CHALLENGE

Water or care for something living.

CHALLENGE

Make something with your hands.

CHALLENGE

Sit outside for ten minutes and just notice.

CHALLENGE

Wear your favorite color today.

CHALLENGE

Ask someone how they are, and really listen.

CHALLENGE

Say no to one thing you do not have to do.

CHALLENGE

List ten things you are grateful for.

CHALLENGE

Dance silly for one song.

PRAYER

Lord, I am here. Be here too.

PRAYER

Jesus, hold her hand and mine.

PRAYER

Father, thank You for getting me through today.

PRAYER

God, I do not have words. You know them.

PRAYER

Holy Spirit, quiet what is loud in me.

PRAYER

Lord, show me one thing I can do next.

PRAYER

Jesus, stay near while I do the hard part.

PRAYER

Father, give me rest tonight.

PRAYER

God, protect the ones I love.

PRAYER

Lord, teach me to be gentle with myself.

PRAYER

Jesus, be the shelter I run to.

PRAYER

Father, give me courage for one small step.

PRAYER

God, I give You what I cannot fix.

PRAYER

Lord, turn my eyes to what is true.

PRAYER

Jesus, thank You for not giving up on me.

PRAYER

Father, put safe people around me.

PRAYER

God, help me forgive in my time.

PRAYER

Lord, meet me in the quiet.

PRAYER

Jesus, heal what I cannot reach.

PRAYER

Father, I belong to You. Amen.

AFFIRMATION

I am not too much and I am not too late.

AFFIRMATION

She was a child, and it was not her fault.

AFFIRMATION

I am allowed to rest.

AFFIRMATION

I can learn slowly and still be growing.

AFFIRMATION

God has not given up on me.

AFFIRMATION

I can be kind to myself today.

AFFIRMATION

I do not have to earn love.

AFFIRMATION

My story is not finished.

AFFIRMATION

I am safer than I used to be.

AFFIRMATION

I can ask for help.

AFFIRMATION

My feelings are information, not a verdict.

AFFIRMATION

I am allowed to have boundaries.

AFFIRMATION

I am more than my worst day.

AFFIRMATION

What I survived does not define my worth.

AFFIRMATION

I can start again as many times as I need.

AFFIRMATION

I am known and loved by God.

AFFIRMATION

I can tell the truth and still be held.

AFFIRMATION

My body kept me alive, and I can thank it.

AFFIRMATION

I can be gentle and strong.

AFFIRMATION

I am coming home.

TASK

Take a photo of one thing that makes you feel safe.

A Letter From Her

A Letter From the New Me

Our Promise

Read both letters aloud, then write one promise you can keep, small enough to do on a bad day.

Signed: _____ Date: ____ / ____ / ____

Witnessed by: _____

Welcome home. We are a team. We are not finished, and we are not alone.

LOOKING BACK

Final Reflection

Take your time. Answer in pencil if that feels safer. You are not grading yourself — you are noticing.

WHAT IS ONE THING I TOLD THE TRUTH ABOUT THAT I HAD BEEN AVOIDING?

WHERE DID I FEEL THE MOST RESISTANCE, AND WHAT MIGHT THAT BE PROTECTING?

WHAT IS ONE THING THAT IS DIFFERENT — EVEN SLIGHTLY — FROM WHEN I STARTED?

WHAT DO I STILL NEED HELP WITH, AND WHO COULD I ASK?

PROGRESS REVIEW

Where I Am Now

Fill this in honestly. “Still hard” is an allowed answer. Finishing is not the same as being finished.

YOUR NEXT STEP

Next-Step Challenge

SAY IT OUT LOUD

Go back to Day 1 and read what you wrote — not to grade yourself, to see it. Then choose one practice (the armor, the craving protocol, the silence, the release) and keep it for the next thirty days. Tell one person which one.

MY ONE NEXT STEP

WHO WILL KNOW ABOUT IT, AND BY WHEN?

WHAT WILL I DO IF I MISS A DAY?

Pick the page back up. Missing a day is not failure — the identity is in the rising.

Closing Prayer

PRAYER

Father, thank You for walking with me through these pages. I did not do this perfectly, and You never asked me to. Where I told the truth, thank You for staying. Where I skipped, meet me there with patience. Where I found grief, hold me in it. Where I found anger, let me bring it to You instead of away from You. Give me safe people, good help, and a next step small enough to take. Keep me honest without letting me shame myself. Teach me to tend what You have given me — slowly, the way a vineyard is tended. I belong to You, and I am still building. In Jesus' name. Amen.

GOOD TO KNOW

- Narcan (naloxone) is available without an individual prescription at most pharmacies, and free through many health departments and harm-reduction programs. Keep it in the house even if you do not use. It can reverse an opioid overdose and will not hurt someone who did not take opioids.
- Withdrawal from alcohol, benzodiazepines, and barbiturates can kill you. Do not detox from those alone. That is a medical detox, not a willpower problem. Call SAMHSA or go to an emergency room.
- Numbers and services change. Confirm them before you rely on them.
